It is an exciting time to lead the school, at a time when this decade-strong thriving institution is at the juncture of catapulting itself into one of the foremost coeducational residential schools in the country. With a view towards nurturing leadership that can influence greater good, we have been harbouring traditions that breed values of integrity, tolerance and service and delivering an innovative curriculum that promotes curiosity and self-worth.

The past few months, from August till October, have witnessed a plethora of events – ranging from career fairs, academic programmes and co-curricular activities. During these months, the school won several academic awards, the students made the school proud at inter-school events and outshone in sports at district level and national level, and brilliantly showcased their talents during the Annual Day celebrations. The present term has proved that Kāsiga is poised for the future ... for as Eleanor Roosevelt stated, "the future belongs to those who believe in the beauty of their dreams."

The second day of the 10th Annual Day celebrations in Kāsiga proved to be more eventful than day one.

A host of events punctuated the day. The day started with the much awaited Parents-Teacher meeting. As the day progressed, parents started pouring in and the session started getting the much needed intensity that it is meant to induce. Fruitful discussions, coupled with Diwali wishes, were the order of the day. The day also saw a number of exhibitions taking place, as the parents and other visitors were spoilt for choices in trying to witness the presentation and exhibits of their children, who were waiting eagerly to showcase their skills and expertise in their respective subjects.

The art exhibition was an experience by itself. All the displays of art celebrated one dominant theme—'celebration of peace in times of turmoil and chaos'. It also depicted themes like, how mental pollution creates environmental pollution and how we are being constantly judged by the world around us, manifesting psychological violence.
